Marginal Column

By BRAYA SHAPIRO

It stands to reason that the government of the country should represent the largest possible majority in time of emergency. "A wide coalition" has become a slogan lately, especially among those who refused to consider a national government two months ago.

It should be admitted now by honest politicians among all the parties that it was a broad coalition that Mr. Ben-Gurion had sought to establish as soon as he undertook to form a Cabinet. A coalition of all those who felt responsible for the country's future, for its meaning and its promise, and for the protection of Jewry anywhere in the world. Mr. Ben-Gurion and his Party were very anxious to have Hapoel Hamizrabi and Hapoel Hamizrabi in the Government. They had their hands on the "Zionist Congress" attitude, the mixing of national issues with party politics, the "bargaining spirit" — but Hapoel Hamizrabi are undoubtedly a Jewish and a Zionist Party. They have been members of the Government from the inception of the State. Hapoel would regret their exclusion, but they are not prepared to accede to all their demands.

SOME Hapoel leaders would also welcome the General Zionists. They feel that a broad Coalition ranging from Hapoel on the left to the General Zionists on the right would be in the best interest of the country at the present time. The General Zionists have now declared in favour of a broad coalition, providing that Hapoel is included. Nobody in Hapoel would accept Hapoel's inclusion now, although a Hapoel leader might have considered it some weeks ago. The vagaries of the General Zionists after their heavy losses in the general elections may have their internal reasons. Because they lost mainly to Hapoel, their old-time associates and rivals, it was natural for the General Zionists to feel that Hapoel had gained because they were in the opposition. The fallacy of this reasoning soon became evident even to the most wishful thinkers. It also became clear that Hapoel, and not the General Zionists, would be the leading force in the Opposition ranks. Moreover, it may well be that the General Zionists have acquired the "habit of ruling" with which they constantly reproach Hapoel. Anyway, they feel that they would not best serve their voters by remaining in the Opposition, but they would like to take Hapoel along with them, to avoid friction and reduce the opposition appeal to certain elements in the voting vote.

It seems that Hapoel itself for a time entertained strong illusions of becoming "respectable" and "coalitional." The trend became evident long before the general elections in the utterances of such speakers as Mr. E. Shostak, head of the Hapoel labour federation. During the general elections Hapoel's spokesmen canvassed the middle classes assiduously, touting down their warlike slogans of the past. Back by the West, the Hapoel spokesmen's policy of respectability exploded with a bang as unbridled vulgarities were showered on Hapoel by speakers at the Hapoel reunion of former I.L.L. members. Mr. Amihai (Gideon) Pagan, former Chief of Staff of the I.L.L., slandered the Prime Minister and the Minister of Defence with a hatred worthy of Abdul Nasser himself. The purpose of the meeting was not clear. On the face of it, it appeared to be a call by the Hapoel leadership to former members of the Irgun to rally to the help of the party which suddenly found itself inflated by unreserved support. But the speeches heard on this occasion had an ominous undertone. Some of the Hapoel leaders, at least, and a part of the participants, must have thought the reunion was called to announce the rebirth of an underground organization to fight the Arabs. Such an organization, which has been frequently suggested by Dr. Israel Eldad (Schub), head of the Hapoel group, might carry out retaliation raids across the border where the Army, "led" by the hated Hapoel, would hesitate to act. The creation of such a group might inflame the imagination of a certain type of youth, but the implications for the country would be civil war.

It is clear that a "national" coalition means a concerted effort by those who respect national sovereignty and discipline. Tel Aviv, November 1.

Four-Party Cabinet Today or Tomorrow

The new Government to be presented by Mr. David Ben-Gurion to the Knesset either today or tomorrow will be a four-party coalition of 15 ministers. Hapoel Hamizrabi decided last night not to join the Coalition under the terms offered. At the same time the Mapai Committee of Eight chose Mr. Peretz Naphthal to be its ninth member in the new Government. He will have no portfolio.

This morning at 10 o'clock the Prime Minister-designate, Mr. David Ben-Gurion, is to meet with the members of his proposed four-party Cabinet. The right to decide when Mr. Ben-Gurion will present the Government to the Knesset.

Prime Minister Moshe Sharett due at Lydda Airport at 8:55 tonight. He is flying from Geneva by T.W.A. It is thought highly unlikely that Mr. Ben-Gurion will present the new Government before Mr. Sharett's return.

However, one source had it that if a written report sent by Mr. Sharett on his talks in Paris and Geneva should arrive before he does, Mr. Ben-Gurion would present the Government rather than delay further.

The decision of Hapoel Hamizrabi was made unanimously by the party's Executive Committee meeting together with its Knesset faction. The session lasted from 10:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. with an afternoon break of about two hours.

An official announcement stated that the Executive Committee heard reports by Ministers Moshe Shapira and Yosef Burr on their negotiations with Mr. Ben-Gurion, and decided that "under the proposed conditions, particularly in the field of education, there is no room for a change in its prior decision."

A proposal was made that if Mr. Ben-Gurion decides to grant the party's demands in the field of education, but not the Interior portfolio, Hapoel Hamizrabi should join the Government with two Ministers, but with no portfolios. It is not known how Mr. Ben-Gurion feels about such an arrangement, even if he should be prepared to yield on the education question.

Hapoel Hamizrabi's demands on Mr. Ben-Gurion are: (1) provision for children to transfer from State schools to State religious schools, or vice versa; (2) provision for religious schools within the State secondary education network, when a State Education Law is passed by the Knesset.

Soviets Propose Broad Security Zone in Europe

GENEVA, Monday. — The Soviet Foreign Minister, Mr. Molotov, proposed today that a security zone with limited forces be established in Europe embracing East and West Germany and "some neighbouring states."

The Soviet official spokesman told a press briefing conference that the four Powers, according to the Russian plan, should lay down a maximum of their forces to be stationed in this zone.

The limitations of forces and armaments in this zone should be agreed upon, in addition to the four Powers, by all states affected by the zone capable of approving them as "sovereign states."

Mr. Molotov's proposal was submitted during the latter part of today's Big Four session when the Foreign Ministers, after having discussed East-West contacts, returned to item one on their agenda — European security and German unity.

Mr. Molotov proposed that all those states should join in a common declaration of intent to ensure that the agreed limitations were being observed. He referred to suggestions along these lines by Sir Anthony Eden, the British Prime Minister, at the summit conference last July which, he said, had been viewed favourably by Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, the Soviet Premier.

Mr. Molotov introduced his proposal by saying that it was tabled with the intention of taking up Sir Anthony's initiative with Soviet support.

According to the Soviet spokesman, the British Foreign Minister, Mr. Macmillan, welcomed the Soviet suggestion and said it appeared to be a great step forward.

The Soviet Foreign Minister had earlier proposed that Dr. Adenauer of West Germany and Otto Grotewohl, the East German Premier, should take part in the conference or send representatives.

According to the new Russian proposal, the forces of the Big Four Powers would be withdrawn from Germany into other states of the buffer zone to be established in three years.

Mr. Molotov dropped his previous demand that the Atlantic pact and its Eastern counterpart, the Warsaw pact, be abolished in two to three years.

Before the conference returned to the first item of the agenda, the U.S. told Russia that it had scrapped plans to restrict the travel of Americans to Eastern Europe and was ready to ease control of movement if Russia did the same.

Other American moves for better East-West relations announced by Secretary of State Dulles, included proposals for reciprocal trade agreements, and for a change of radio commentaries on world developments.

Mr. Molotov presented a five-point plan ranging from the stopping of the arms race to the calling of an international conference next year on the use of atomic energy for public health.

Sharett Warns Molotov Czech Arms Liable to Set Middle East Aflame

Israel's Fears Not Dismissed Says Deal Flouts 'Geneva Spirit'

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN, Special to The Jerusalem Post

GENEVA, Monday. — The first five days of the Foreign Ministers' Conference in Geneva have been a curious exercise in schizophrenia. While the Ministers have officially been discussing the problems of German reunification and European security, their thoughts have been largely on the Middle East. Since this is not an item on the agenda, discussion on it has had to be done by means of an elaborate series of private meetings.

First Mr. Macmillan on Saturday and then Mr. Dulles on Sunday bearded Mr. Molotov and told him of their strong disapproval of the Egyptian-Chinese arms contract and its effect on the delicate balance of power in the Middle East.

Mr. Dulles has seen Mr. Sharett, who by coming to Geneva with most of his senior ambassadors has ensured that Israel's fears and hopes shall not be forgotten, and has told him that the U.S. might give some military aid to Israel. But Mr. Dulles made it clear that this would primarily be in the form of defensive weapons possibly anti-aircraft guns and anti-submarine devices, and that the U.S. has no intention of matching the Czechoslovakian supplies to Egypt for gun.

Mr. Dulles, like Mr. Macmillan, who saw Mr. Sharett tonight after the latter had seen Mr. Molotov, has made it clear that he still regards the 1950 Tripartite Declaration — which bound the U.S., Britain and France to intervene against aggression by either the Arab states or Israel — as a useful instrument.

1950 Declaration Is 'Automatic'—Nutting

GENEVA, Monday. — The Israeli Prime Minister, Mr. Moshe Sharett, warned the Soviet Foreign Minister tonight that Czechoslovak arms supplies to Egypt threatened to set the Middle East in flames, the extent of which might spread beyond control.

Mr. Sharett made his protest in his long-awaited talk with Mr. V. M. Molotov at the latter's lakeside villa at Geneva. The Israeli Premier said that the Czech arms deal was contrary to the "Geneva spirit" of settling international disputes by peaceful means, according to an authoritative source.

The Western allies have agreed to "consider sympathetically" Israel's requests for defensive arms, authoritative Western sources said today. But they have also agreed to steer clear of any Mid-Eastern arms race or giving new security guarantees to Israel, the sources added.

The Western Foreign Ministers met at the U.S. delegation's hotel to line up a solid front on the Mid-Eastern crisis and to align their strategy in the Big Four conference itself.

Authoritative Western spokesmen said that they now are in complete agreement on a three-point policy.

Three-Point Policy

This was said to comprise:

1. "Sympathetic consideration" of Israel's requests for "limited" quantities of defensive weapons, particularly anti-aircraft guns.
2. Avoidance of any Mid-Eastern arms race. There would be no attempt to match big Communist arms sales to Egypt.
3. Restatement of the May, 1950 tripartite declaration, which provided for possible action in case of aggression by either Israel or the Arab states. But no new security guarantees for Israel herself.

See Disappointment

An authoritative source here said that Mr. Sharett was disappointed by the U.S., French and specially British responses to his requests for the supply of arms and a concise defence undertaking. Though Mr. Dulles had promised to give "sympathetic" consideration to Israel defence requirements, Mr. Macmillan had not far held out any hope for arms deliveries and had not appreciated the urgency of Israel's plight.

Mr. Sharett is understood to have told the Western statesmen that Israel was herself anxious to avoid an arms race because it would sap her manpower and economy. He told Mr. Macmillan that Britain's treaty guarantees to Jordan and Iraq had created a dangerous imbalance in the Middle East, and Israel would continue to press for similar undertakings from the Western powers, which would have no objection if these were also given to other Arab states.

Iraq Seeks Alliance With Syria, Lebanon

BAGHDAD, Monday. — Iraq last night moved to discuss with Syria and the Lebanon the negotiation of an agreement similar to the Egyptian military pact with Syria and Saudi Arabia, official quarters stated here today.

Foreign Minister Burhan el-Din Hashim told the Lebanese Ambassador and the Syrian Charge d'Affaires in Baghdad last night that Iraq, "after full consideration of the bilateral military pact between Egypt and Syria, which were later signed by Saudi Arabia, proposes to negotiate a pact with Syria and the Lebanon."

The Syrian Charge d'Affaires said today that the Iraqi Foreign Minister told him Iraq would welcome a visit to Baghdad of a Syrian mission to negotiate and conclude a bilateral military defence pact.

(The Iraqi Cabinet of Nuri Said is expected to resign this week, NEABS reported today. King Faisal will ask the outgoing Premier to reform the cabinet after dropping four of the present ministers.)

Recalls Eden's Statement

Mr. Macmillan reminded Mr. Sharett that his predecessor, Sir Anthony Eden, made it clear twice last year in the Commons that he committed the Western Powers to the help of Israel if she were attacked, though the declaration was actually made at a time when it was feared that the Soviet Union would attack her neighbours. What Mr. Molotov said to Mr. Sharett is as yet unknown, but it has been assumed that he would adopt the line that Czechoslovakia's supply of arms to Egypt was her own affair, and that if it was creating tension in the Middle East, the right course would be to call a great power conference on the subject.

This is the last thing the Western Powers desire, since it would put severe pressure on the recently and laboriously constructed Baghdad pact between Turkey, Persia, Iraq, Pakistan, and Russia, but by Israel and the remaining Arab League countries as well.

Tomorrow, Mr. Dulles will use the occasion of the All-Saints holiday to fly to Madrid in order to visit General Franco. Mr. Dulles' visit is connected with certain signs of Titoist sentiments towards the West displayed by the Government in recent months and Russia's new and friendly attitude towards Spain. If Russia has really decided to become an important Mediterranean power, Mr. Dulles will have to be in North Africa and her traditional rivalry with France, could be of great assistance to her. It is probable that Mr. Dulles will warn General Franco of the dangers of Russian economic or political embraces.

Egyptian Planes Over Nitzana

Egyptian aircraft flew over the Nitzana district today, and Kibbutz Mivtahim four times on Sunday, the Army spokesman announced yesterday. It is understood that the planes were first observed in the early morning, and at intervals until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. On one occasion they were identified as Vampire jets.

An Egyptian military force yesterday morning penetrated into Israel territory in the Nirim sector, the spokesman added. Medium machine-gun fire was opened simultaneously on our positions from Egyptian posts. A passing Israeli patrol put the Egyptian force to flight. There were no Israeli casualties.

Following yesterday's renewed Egyptian attack against Israel territory in the Nirim area, Israel addressed a statement to the United Nations Mixed Armistice Commission.

The Foreign Ministry spokesman stated last night that a U.N. investigation of the last Saturday's attack by an Egyptian infantry unit against a small Israeli army outpost near Nirim revealed the tracks of the invading force coming across the Armistice line into Israel. In the vicinity of the Israel post that was attacked, quantities of mortar shells and sub-machine-gun bullets were found, as well as hand-grenades of Egyptian manufacture.

The spokesman added that Egyptian army units continue to occupy a belt of Israel territory in the Nitzana area, in which they are firmly entrenched.

Makarios in Athens

NICOSSIA, Monday (Reuters). — The Archbishop of Cyprus, Makarios, head of the EOKA (union with Greece) Movement, flew to Athens today to consult Greek leaders.

Greek Orthodox church sources said that the Archbishop would visit Premier Constantine Karamanlis and Foreign Minister Spiros Trikoupi to discuss the recent talks in Paris between the British Foreign Secretary, Harold Macmillan, and the Greek Foreign Minister.

Meanwhile, in Cyprus a bomb was flung at British troops in Famagusta, yesterday, but no one was hurt.

Margaret Says 'No'

LONDON, Monday (Reuters). — Princess Margaret announced tonight that she would not marry Group Captain Peter Townsend, divorced father of two young sons.

Her decision was conveyed in a personal message issued from Clarence House, her London residence.

It said: "I would like to be known that I have decided not to marry Group Captain Peter Townsend. According to present laws, that subject to my renouncing my rights of succession, it might have been possible for me to do so. I have, however, decided not to do so. I have reached this decision entirely alone, and in doing so I have been strengthened by the unfailing support and devotion of Group Captain Townsend."

"I am deeply grateful for the concern of all those who have constantly prayed for my happiness."

The message bore today's date. It was learned that both Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mother had the text of Princess Margaret's personal message submitted to them before its issue.

The Princess, who had arrived at Clarence House earlier in the day from the island of Corsica, was the guest of Lord and Lady Rupert Nevill, who at Clarence House when the message was issued.

Because of Margaret's decision, it is clear that no question of consultations on constitutional issues has in any way arisen. Captain Townsend will be returning to Brussels to resume his duties as Air Attache next Monday. He spent 24 hours with Princess Margaret at Clarence House this afternoon, and returned to Weyfield by car shortly before the statement was issued.

Syria Complains to U.N. Over Israel 'Aggression'

NEW YORK, Monday (Reuters). — Syria in a letter circulated at U.N. Headquarters today complained to the Security Council that there had been a constant increase in the number of acts of aggression committed by Israel against Syria during October.

The letter, dated last Friday, was sent by Syria's permanent representative to the U.N., Rafik Agia, to the President of the Council. It drew attention to five incidents which, Agia said, constituted "conclusive proof of Israel's warlike intentions."

However, the Syrian delegate did not request a meeting of the Council to consider them.

Not Right Moment

Mr. Nutting replied that the Government did not think that this was the moment to give such a guarantee. "So far as arms for Israel are concerned, recent events show more clearly that we and the other Western Powers no longer hold a monopoly of arms supplies in this case. This situation involves difficult decisions both for the Government and its Western partners. We cannot on the one hand embark on an arms race with the Soviet bloc and, on the other, put a ban on arms deliveries which would further drive countries to less responsible suppliers than ourselves."

This statement brought forth Opposition cries of "On!" The Minister then went on, "If members who laugh and cry 'On' at that regard the Soviet bloc as responsible suppliers, I do not. The Government and our Western partners have steered a course between these two extremes and shall continue to have regard to the tripartite declaration in all our arms policies and deliveries to the Middle East."

Burns Effort Not Failure

Mr. Emmanuel Shinwell then asked whether, however well-intentioned the efforts of Major-General E.L.M. Burns, head of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization, "it is quite clear they have ended in failure and some different action must be taken at the earliest possible moment or otherwise the Middle East will be involved in a grave conflict."

Mr. Nutting replied that he disagreed that Gen. Burns' activities have ended in failure. He said that they were continuing and paid tribute to Gen. Burns' work. "We are very concerned with this situation and we shall continue to do everything we can... to maintain a balance and create an atmosphere in which a settlement may emerge," the Minister declared.

30 Bulgars Among 800 New Arrivals

HAIFA, Monday.—More than 800 immigrants arrived here this morning in the s.s. Jerusalem and the French s.s. Lamartine, both which came from Marseilles. Thirty of the immigrants were from Bulgaria, one from Hungary, and three each from Britain, South Africa and Sweden. Most of the rest were from Morocco, and were transferred to Jewish National Fund villages in Western Galilee and development areas. Thirty-three families joined their relatives or went to kibbutzim.

Among the s.s. Jerusalem's 983 passengers were Professor E. Jarlov of Denmark and G. Edstrom of Sweden, who have been as guests of the Government Tourist Corporation, and Zim. During their 12-day stay they will study the possibilities of the Tibetic Hot Springs, a winter cure for Scandinavians suffering from rheumatism. No hot springs exist in Scandinavia, and many Scandinavians spend the winter in Sicily and Italy in their search for a cure for their rheumatism.

Also on board the ship was the Rev. Y. Efronkin, formerly rabbi of the Sephardi community in Paris. A total of 5,120 immigrants arrived during the month of October, according to temporary figures released by the Immigration Department of the Jewish Agency.

Export Bank Opens In Tel Aviv

TEL AVIV, Monday.—The Export Bank is being opened for its clients and putting its experience and ramified ties abroad at the service of the medium and small exporter in particular. The Bank's Managing Director, Mr. M. Meyer, said at today's dedication of the Bank's premises in Tel Aviv.

The Bank's paid-up capital will be increased from IL200,000 to IL300,000 before the end of 1955 and further increases have been promised by the shareholders if warranted by the volume of business, a part of it in foreign currency.

The majority of shares is held by Meyer Brothers, who have long experience and wide interests in industry and foreign trade transactions, while the rest has been subscribed by Swiss and British bankers. As facilities were being arranged in obtaining a permit to open a new bank, the group acquired Hefung's Bank in Haifa and developed it into a special export credit institute.

CHEAPER FLIGHTS TO ISRAEL

As from today, there is a 25 per cent reduction in air fares for married couples traveling from New York to Israel. The cut was approved by the International Air Transport Association in Miami upon the initiative of the El Al representative.

This considerable reduction will no doubt form an important incentive for tourists, and married couples provide a high percentage of the travelling public. A 17 per cent reduction for air travel from any point in Europe to Israel, if the stay in this country does not exceed 21 days, was introduced as the result of an El Al proposal. This special fare applies also to single passengers.

As against these important reductions in fares to Israel, a five per cent increase was introduced for other tickets. This, however, must be compared with a general 10 per cent increase in first-class travel tickets all over the world.

The Tel Aviv office of T.W.A. has announced that simultaneous with the coming into force of the new reduced rates there will be slight changes in their flight schedules. In addition to the Sunday and Wednesday routes, a first class service leaving Lydda Airport on Friday morning, and some of the intermediate stops will be cut out on some of the flights.

Knesset Sends Collective Pacts Bill to Labour Committee

The Knesset yesterday by a vote of 30-10, passed to the Labour Committee the Collective Agreements Bill, after the Minister of Labour, Mrs. Golda Myerson, had replied to the debate which took place last Tuesday.

The Bill was supported by Messrs. Hapoel Hamizrachi, Abba Hava, and some General Zionists. Herut voted against, while the Communists, the Progressives and some General Zionists abstained.

Mrs. Myerson announced that a bill for the settlement of labour disputes would soon be presented to the Knesset, and she also hoped that the Third Knesset would deal with the regulation of labour exchanges.

The Minister defended the section of the Bill dealing with payment of compensation for the breaking of a labour contract. The section reads:

Other laws notwithstanding, no workers' employers' organization shall be liable for the payment of compensation for breaking a collective agreement, except to the extent that it has explicitly obligated itself in the agreement.

Mrs. Myerson said that the payment of compensation could be made by the workers' organization as a whole. She called the formulation a compromise between two systems used abroad.

The Ministry of Education and Culture, Prof. Ben-Zion Dinur, presented for its first reading the Council for Higher Education and Research Bill. The Bill passed its first reading in the Second Knesset, but was returned to the Government by the Education Committee for revision. It provides for the establishment of a council to deal with all matters pertaining to higher education and research, including coordination between institutions of higher learning, recognition of institutions, and approval of budgets and expansion plans of institutions which seek assistance from the Government.

All speakers in yesterday's debate expressed opposition to the Bill. They were Mrs. Esther Harel-Naor (Herut), Mrs. Shoshana Peretz (General Zionists), Mr. Itzhak Rabin (Hapoel Hamizrachi), Mr. Moshe Erera (Abnud Ha'avoda), and Rabbi Mordechai Nurock (Mizrachi).

The Knesset Finance Committee yesterday voted against passing the Loan Bill (Banking Institutions) to the Knesset for its second and third readings. The Bill passed its first reading last week.

According to the Bill, the IL2m. five-year loan terminating yesterday was to be renewed and increased to IL3m. This is in line with the policy of the Treasury and the Bank of Israel to increase bank loans by IL2m.

Nicholls Points To British Goodwill

TEL AVIV, Monday.—There is in Great Britain a solid fund of goodwill toward Israel which has survived more than one decade of opinion, Deputy Director-General of the Foreign Ministry, Mr. Arthur Lourie, said at a dinner held by the Israel-British Commonwealth Association at the Dan Hotel last night.

Israel, Mr. Nicholls said, owes its independence in some degree to British policy and British arms. "We must all agree that the situation in the Middle East is disquieting. But difficulties do not justify despair, much less desperation," Mr. Nicholls said.

Mr. Arthur Lourie, Deputy Director-General of the Foreign Ministry, regretted that Arab blackmail was once again taken full advantage of by certain political circles.

Some 200 guests attended the dinner which was chaired by Mr. Norman Jacoby, the Mayor. Haim Levaton, the Australian Minister, Mr. Bertram C. Ballard, and the Canadian Charge d'Affaires, Mr. George P. Kidd, and Mr. and Mrs. Israel Rabin were among those present. Mr. Alex Rabin, the Secretary of the Association, read a message from the Association's branch in Britain.

Jobless Ask Gov't For Help

Delegations from Lydda and Natanya called on the Director-General of the Ministry of Labour, Mr. Yitzhak Elyan, in Jerusalem yesterday to request that the Ministry take steps to cut drastically the sharply rising unemployment in their areas. Mr. Elyan told them that the Ministry would do everything it can to work out plans to help.

About 800 persons are without work now in Lydda and Mahane Israel. At present, labour exchanges by Petah Tikva, Ramat Gan, Erez Brak, Rishon le-Zion and Lydda are closed, as the unemployed have refused to accept jobs in harvesting groundnuts.

In the week ending October 21, 18 labour exchanges were shut down throughout the country for the same reason. In the same week, the total number of jobless was 6,700, but it is believed that several thousand more could not register because the exchanges were closed. The principal centres of unemployment, last week, were Haifa with 1,485; Jerusalem, 709; and Tel Aviv, 704.

Over N.165,000 Given For Defence Fund

Over N.165,000 were given to the Prime Minister's Office in Jerusalem, while over N.160,000 in cash were sent into the offices of the Ministry of Defence at the Kirya yesterday for the Defence Fund. Commitments for another N.100,000 were recorded in the Defence Ministry Office.

Among the larger contributions reported yesterday were N.15,000 from the Amnigara Company; N.12,000 from Masada; the teachers' credit corporation; N.10,000 from the Dental Clinic Association for the purchase of a mobile dental clinic for the Medical Corps and N.10,000 from the management and employees of the Barber Porcelain Works.

"LEGEM"—A NEW PRODUCT

The "Haavi" Chikory Factory—N. Melin and Son, have put the new product "Legem" on the market. Its ingredients are pure chikory powder plus carbohydrates which increase its nutritive value and preserve the aroma.

It is novel because "Legem" is powder. Most important is that it needs no cooking. It's easy to prepare and ready to serve immediately, saving time and work (especially in mornings when the family is preparing to depart for school, work etc.). "Legem" is good for children and adults. Because of its advantages "Legem" is sure to become a public favourite.

Dilute it with hot water, milk or coffee. "Legem's" preparation is based on scientific research in accordance with the International Food Laws.

For three generations—since 1881—the "Haavi" Factory has specialized in the manufacture of chikory, and therefore it deserves your confidence. (Advt.)

President to Address Weizmann Memorial

The President, Mr. Yehoshua Ben-Zvi, is to deliver an address in memory of his predecessor, Chaim Weizmann, in the Weizmann Memorial Plaza, Rehovot, tomorrow afternoon, inaugurating a series of events to commemorate the third anniversary of the First President's death. The Knesset Speaker, Mr. Joseph Sprinok, will preside.

The President and Mrs. Ben-Zvi returned to Jerusalem yesterday after spending 10 days in the Negev District, where they stayed in the town of Be'er-Sheva. The President took sulphur baths in Wadi Umm Barakh.

On their way back to Jerusalem, Mr. and Mrs. Ben-Zvi stopped at Beersheva and visited Mayor David Tuvyahu in the Town Hall, later lunching at his home.

The President and Mrs. Ben-Zvi also visited the settlements of Neveim, Hatzorim, Dimona and Mishmar HaNeggiv.

Free Lance Photographer 'Exiled' from Negev

BEERSHEVA, Monday.—The free lance photographer, Mr. Yehoshua Ben-Zvi, was detained yesterday for photographing military objects without permission on a warrant issued by the Military Governor's Office, was expelled from the Negev District for one month, taking effect from midnight to tonight. He was barely given time to eat supper and was escorted to the District boundary by six military police, two riding with him in his car and four others following in an army command car.

The expulsion order was issued under Paragraph 106 of the Emergency Regulations, although no charge was preferred against him. He was released from prison at 4 p.m. today, but was told to be back there at 8 p.m. During that time, he broke the hunger strike which he began yesterday at a protest against the "suppression of the freedom of the Press."

Mr. Farish also said that he was arrested by a plain-clothes member of the "security forces" who had refused to identify himself but who had ascertained the photographer's identity by allegedly forcibly removing his wallet from his jacket pocket and searching it. The warrant for his arrest was taken out under Emergency Regulation 111, which gives the Military Governor the power to hold a person for a week without bringing him to public trial.

Kuntilla Had Mixed Garrison, Prisoners Tell Reporters

By SHAYA SHAPIRO, Jerusalem Post Military Correspondent
TEL AVIV, Monday.—There were three black men, weary after the excitement of the past few days, weak from the wounds they had sustained during the Israeli raid on the Kuntilla base, lying calm and resigned in the white hospital "somewhere in Israel" when journalists visited them today. The war came and went quickly for them that memorable night. They did not seem to understand much of what had happened and they do not know what will happen to them in the near future.

What they did know was that they were being cared for, that the food was good, that the walls of their rooms were painted white, and that there was an Israeli policeman at the door. They were the three remaining wounded men from among the 29 Egyptian soldiers taken prisoner at the Kuntilla raid early Friday morning. The others have already been discharged from the hospital.

The oldest among the wounded men is Mohammed Abdul Hafiz, 35. He appears to be of Egyptian stock, although he lives in Aswan Province on the Upper Nile. He said that he had been in the Army for four years and was an "Imbashi" (corporal). What he was doing during the raid? He became restless, telling a yarn about being in the camp "only for three hours, just to get water." Was the garrison Sudanese or Egyptian? "Mixed," he said.

The others are pure Sudanese. Marwan Mohammed Ibrahim, 22, one of the Sudanese captured at Kuntilla, smiles, while in a hospital "somewhere in Israel."

who remains jovial, in spite of his leg and chest wounds. He hails from Dongola, where his wife and four children live. He had given up farming to serve in the army, because of the pay. Had he ever heard about Israel? Not when he was in the Sudan. No papers, no radio there. The youngest is Sidi Ahmed Ali, 21, from Shandi Province, where his family are fellahs. All three are illiterate.

After they had been wounded, they were carried part of the way by Israel, part of the way by Egyptian prisoners. They conceded that treatment in the hospital was good and they voiced no complaints.

The leading Cairo weekly, "Akhar al-Yom," said that the members of the Sudanese garrison at Kuntilla were old enough to be in a home for old men rather than in the army. "There are no young men whatsoever among them and their average age was over 30," the paper wrote yesterday.

Kol Yisrael's Arabic transmissions last night broadcast interviews with some of the prisoners, as well as messages from 24 of them to their families and relations in Egypt and Sudan. Interviews with several of the captives were also relayed over the "Radio Newreel" at 9:45 yesterday evening.

Shipyards All Booked Up

Contrary to gloomy prophecies in the after-Korea period, the boom in the shipbuilding industry is continuing unabated. In the past 12 months shipyards outside the U.S. have been flooded with orders for dry-cargo ships and ore-carriers, and recently, when the market has been placed for tankers, with promises of more to come. Several yards in Germany, the Netherlands and Britain are now booked up at least up to 1950, and it is difficult to place orders for ships for delivery before 1951 anywhere in the world except in the U.S. — at a prohibitive cost — and in Japan. Even contracts for delivery up to the end of 1950 already command a substantial premium. Shipbuilding prices have accordingly risen in British yards and are tending to rise on the Continent, too, as a result of higher steel prices and the persistent pressure for wage increases in Germany and in France.

Japanese Exports to the U.S.
Japan's drive to increase exports has been spectacularly successful not only in Asiatic markets, but also in the U.S. Of a total $580m. worth of Japanese exports during the first nine months of 1949, the U.S. purchased $136m.
